

Allowing this will wreak great havoc on the HF bands, rendering many a ham's shack useless. It will degrade the ham community's ability to provide clear, reliable communications in emergencies. There is also the possibility for the opposite effect of HF radios causing interference to this broadband internet system.